PRESENT NEW AFFIDAVITS IN CASE

Documents Filed In Effort To Secure Freedom Of William Shepherd

CHICAGO, April 1.—Six new affidavits were filed in criminal court here today as a preliminary to the resumption tomorrow of the fight for bail for William D. Shepherd, pending his trial for murder for the death of William Nelson McClintock, his foster son. It is on these affidavits that Charles C. Fauman, chief of Shepherd's counsel, will seek to show that the proof against his client is not evident nor the presumption of guilt great. By them, he will attempt to bring out that Shepherd could not possibly have obtained typhoid germs from Dr. Charles C. Fauman's National University of Science, since Stewart will contend there never were any live germ cultures there.

To prove this, he offered affidavits from Mrs. Luella Rhuebell, former business manager of the school and Mrs. Anna Koch, mother of Earl Clark, former salesman of the school and now a state witness. Through Mrs. Koch, the defense hopes to establish that Fauman's entire confession was forced by the state in conjunction with Clark, who, the defense will contend, threatened to expose the alleged death of a young girl on whom Fauman is said to have operated, unless he "confessed right."

Claims Immunity
Immunity for this death and permission to continue his unlicensed school was the state's promise to Fauman for the confession that he gave Shepherd typhoid germs to inoculate McClintock, the defense has claimed. All this, the defense claims, is

Invitation to Conference Is Not Expected

PARIS, April 1.—France does not expect a formal invitation to the proposed disarmament conference at Washington. "Knowing the French government's attitude, Washington certainly is not likely to embarrass France by issuing an invitation," a spokesman for the government told International News Service today. "The French government has done everything possible on naval disarmament," he continued. "The French navy now is now badly out of date. Furthermore, apparently the proposed conference will discuss aviation disarmament and as air disarmament affects land disarmament, the question is not discussable under present circumstances. "It is not true to say that France has refused an invitation to go to Washington, as she might accept contrary to her own desires, simply out of courtesy to America."

WOOD IN U. S. 'BENT' BUT IS NOT BROKE

Young Lieutenant Looks For Tipster Moore To Recoup His Lost Fortune

By JENNINGS PERRY
For International News Service.
TAMPA, Fla., April 1.—Back home again "badly bent" but not completely broke, Lieutenant Osborne C. Wood, son of Major-General Leonard Wood, today planned to recoup his depleted fortune.

One of the first moves the famous financial plunger will make, he told International News Service, will be to get in touch with A. T. Moore, New York, the man who aided him in taking a fortune out of Wall Street last year—a fortune that he has squandered in the famous pleasure resorts and gambling houses of Europe.

"Mr. Moore and I shall do business again, and it won't be long before the old bank account will be climbing again," he said with an air of determination. "Comeback Outlined
"The United States is the one place in the world to make money," he continued, "but you go abroad to spend it. I'm glad I'm back. I've never seen Mr. Moore, New York broker and tipster, who helped me make my fortune before, but I am sure he will help me make another. It was all perfectly legitimate. He bought and sold for me according to my directions from the Philippines. I paid him well for it—sometimes a thousand a week. I have returned home to replenish my coffers, and I am determined to stage a comeback."

ARMS PARLEY PLANS WILL CONTINUE

President Is Determined To Proceed With Conference Without France

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service.
WASHINGTON, April 1.—France's persistent policy of throwing cold water on the new arms limitation conference, promised for Washington next fall, has in no way lessened President Coolidge's determination to stage such a conference, it was ascertained today from official sources.

With the warm support of the British government and the equally certain, though less enthusiastic, support of the Japanese government, administration officials will continue to work quietly and unofficially, as they have been for months, to clear away the obstacles that Paris is constantly throwing in the path of the proposition. The state department today confirmed International News Service dispatches that France has not notified this government formally or officially of its unwillingness to participate in the projected conference.

Frown On Idea
What the French government intends to do, according to authorities here, is to kill the conference a-borning, thus escaping the embarrassment of being invited and then having to decide whether to accept or be put in the position of being an obstructionist to the furtherance of world peace. It is true that Ambassador Daeschner has instructions from his foreign office to frown on every suggestion advanced concerning the conference. It was hinted in authoritative quarters today that France is going to get a chance to put her objections to coming to Washington.

JAZZ BABY IS AGREEMENT IS SEEN IN GAS TAX RAISE

Girl Who Killed Her Mother Laughingly Announces Birthday Today

By ELLIS H. MARTIN
For International News Service.
SAN FRANCISCO, April 1.—Jestingly, Dorothy Ellingson, a few weeks ago said, "I'm an April fool," in revealing that she was born on April 1. Then she laughed at her own joke.

This afternoon, on her 17th birthday, her own attorneys, against her will and consent, will set grimly and relentlessly about the business of proving that the "jazz baby" who so recently was "the life of the party" is insane. Only a shadow of the gay figure that flitted through the jazz palaces of Chinatown and the Ocean beach but a few months ago, the girl who killed her mother that she might go out nights, faced the trial in a rebellious mood.

She told Dr. Joseph Catton, state alienist, that she is now sane and would prefer to plead guilty to being found insane and sent to an asylum.

Her attorneys denounced the state's interrogation of her on this point as an "outrage" and an attempt to "sneak behind the backs of the girl's own attorneys."

The state attorneys declined to confirm reports that they held a statement signed by the girl, repudiating the insanity plea and expressing a desire to plead guilty to the charge of murdering her mother. Reports persisted, though, that they held this trump card. The possibility of its legal introduction was a mooted one. Although also denying the existence of the reported document, Dorothy's attorneys were prepared to battle desperately to prevent the state's using it, provided it exists. "Faint Impulse"

But no one was able to forecast what the girl may do if seized by an "irresistible impulse." Her self-control, characterized by Dr. Jaudon Ball, psychiatrist, as lamentably weak, is waning. This was

MEANS OF FINANCING HIGHWAY WORK SEEN NEAR AS BUDGET IS KNOWN

SACRAMENTO, April 1.—Prospects of an early agreement on the 3-cent gasoline tax or some other means of financing California highway work for the next two years were considerably increased today when members of the State Highway commission, before convening to draft the budget information requested by the Senate, announced that the commission would agree to allocation of the funds on a route basis.

Secretary W. F. Mixon, acting as spokesman for the commission, declared that the road body was willing to give the Senate all the budget data it required and said that specific routings with the amount proposed for expenditure on each, would be submitted.

Mixon added, however, that the commission would not attempt to allocate the funds to individual units of the various routes, stating that such a procedure would be impractical and was not favored by the commissioners.

The commission is expected to have its budget information ready for submission to the legislators later today and it is probable that another attempt will be made to get the gasoline tax bill out of committee tonight.

The special appropriation measures call for expenditures aggregating more than $30,000,000. PACIFIC MAIL MAY ATTEMPT TO PREVENT TRANSFER

Rumors of Injunction Heard As Officials Gather In Washington

WASHINGTON, April 1.—A fight between the Pacific Mail and the Dollar lines for the control of Asiatic trade out of San Francisco was forecast today as a probable result of the acceptance of the Dollar offer by the shipping board of the five president type ships now operated for the government by the Pacific Mail and which formed the backbone of that organization's commercial fleet.

On the heels of the board's acceptance of the $5,625,000 cash offer by Dollar, Gale H. Carter, president of the Pacific Mail and other officials rushed to Washington where they immediately went into conference.

Immediate purchase or lease of five-passenger ships to take the places of those lost to Dollar was believed to be the objective of the Pacific Mail which has handled a Pacific trade for more than forty years.

Carter refused to comment on the future policy of Pacific Mail as the conference began, but from other sources, it was learned that they will not withdraw from the San Francisco-Oriental route.

Rumors that Pacific Mail would seek an injunction to prevent the transfer of the ships to Dollar were persistently circulated today.

ADVOCATE TAX ON OUTSIDE EMPLOYERS

C. C. Directors Favor Plans To Give Contracts To Local Concerns

Drastic efforts to put teeth in their trade-at-home campaign, so that Glendale contractors and Glendale labor will be given preference on all jobs in this city, may be made by the Chamber of Commerce. The plausibility of a special municipal tax on outside contractors who operate in Glendale will be investigated by a committee. At the same time the chamber has under consideration steps to have Glendale labor specified in all contracts let by the city or school authorities. Although the law specifically states that all contracts must go to the lowest bidder, clauses stipulating Glendale workmen and sub-contractors can legally be inserted in all contracts, it was declared.

"The hiring of Glendale workmen and patronizing of Glendale contractors is an outstanding factor in our economic life," Secretary Howard I. Wood said, in bringing the proposals before the board.

Ask Extra Fees
Other cities demand extra fees from contractors from out of town, Mr. Wood said. There is no reason why Glendale should not do so, he declared. In regard to stipulating only Glendale sub-contractors and Glendale labor in contracts let by the city and the schools, Mr. Wood asserted that there was no other way of assuring patronage of home concerns in these cases. The state law is strict in providing that contracts go only to the lowest bidder.

Further action was promised at the next meeting of the board, when the committee appointed by President D. H. Smith yesterday will render a report. The committee will consist of T. Watson, chairman; R. E. Johnston and E. Coker.

PITCHING STAFF TO HELP ANGELS

Manager Marty Krug Thinks Improvements Made Will Put L. A. In Front

By MARTIN J. KRUG
Manager of the Los Angeles Baseball Club, Pacific Coast League. LOS ANGELES, April 1.—Improvements being necessary on a baseball team every year. I believe we have succeeded this season in making changes that will prove highly beneficial to our pennant chances. We finished second last year. I believe we are going into the coming battle with a better club and one that the other seven contenders will have to beat for the championship.

Our pitching staff was the talk of the organization last season. It will be stronger this year. The acquisition of Charley Glazner from the Phillies, George Miley from the Cubs, and the belated arrival of Wayne Wright, along with George Payne, Chief Myers, Doc Crandall, Buck Ramsey and Tom Hughes, gives us a fine pitching staff.

We were a trifle weak behind the plate last summer. Not so this year. We added considerable punch to the backstop department when we secured Gus Saggberg from Cincinnati. Besides, we still have Ed Spencer to assist us, as well as two corking, good-looking youngsters in Russell Ennis and Pete Thompson, both strong throwers and powerful hitters. Our infield present a little problem that may be solved, however, by the determination of Bill Whaley to develop into an infielder. If he succeeds in covering third base creditably, our worries will be over, for I feel that I have one of the greatest combinations in the league in McAuley and Beck at second and the best slugging first baseman in Ray Grimes. In the event Whaley does not make good at the far corner, I can always play there, or use Jacobs or Gunther. These two boys will be my utility men, and they have class and promise. Gunther can also fill in as an utility outfielder if necessary.

The outfield represents power. Hood is without a doubt one of the best right-handed-hitting outfielders in the league. Not only that, but he is fast in the outfield and also on the bases. In Joe Horan we have acquired a real hitter, one whose work this spring has virtually earned him the job of cleanup hitter. Twombly has fully recovered from his injury of last season and ought to be dangerous at all times.

Taking the team as a whole, we are powerful, and we will be hard to beat.

REPORT SHOWS POISON PUT IN SUGAR

Mr. and Mrs. George Hill Of Glendale Have Narrow Escape From Death

Mr. and Mrs. George Hill of 643-B East Acacia avenue, are marveling today at their recent narrow escape from death when deadly poison was placed in the sugar supply at their home by some one plotting against them. County Chemist George L. Walker, who subjected the sugar to two score tests in an effort to determine the nature and amount of poison, declares that the poison was bicarbonate of mercury, and that the entire contents of the sugar bowl contained enough poison to kill twenty persons.

It was last Friday that Mr. and Mrs. Hill found that fresh cream, placed in coffee containing the sugar, immediately curdled. Silver spoons when placed in the coffee turned black and the husband's suspicions and they enlisted aid of officers at once.

Following the result of tests by County Chemist Walker, officers of Glendale, led by Lieutenant Royle, officers of Los Angeles and San Francisco, have redoubled their efforts to find the person believed to have concocted the plot against the couple.

Purified Drug

By the nature of the poison and the fact that the would-be murderer had ground the drug, which is generally sold in crystal-like flakes, to a minute powder before placing it in the food, Lieutenant Royle is said to be of the opinion that it was the intention of the suspect to cause acute suffering to the Hills, as well as death.

With the proof of the almost inhuman cruelty and cunning displayed by the assailant of Mr. and Mrs. Hill, our theory, which I am not at liberty to reveal now, is materially strengthened, "and I am confident that when we pick up the man for whom we are searching we will have the attempted killer."

C. C. MEMBERSHIP DRIVE TO START

Campaign to Last Five Days
Will Open On April 25;
Tell Dinner Plan

An attempt to bring the membership of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce up to the average for a city the size of Glendale will be made during the drive scheduled for five days, starting April 25. That Glendale at present has a Chamber of Commerce membership only half as large as that of other communities with an equally large population was brought out in connection with plans for the membership drive, presented to the board of directors at their meeting yesterday by Dr. T. C. Young.

Over seventy-five committeemen and subcommitteemen have already signified their intention to work on the membership drive, Dr. Young said. An effort to increase the number of memberships held by Glendale business firms will be made by the directors during the drive. In addition, every present member of the chamber will be asked to get a member during the five days.

Tell Dinner Plans

Plans for the open forum dinner on April 16 under the auspices of the Glendale Kiwanis club were announced by Director Frank Fox. Every service club and other organization in the city will be invited to have large delegations at the dinner, when the membership drive of the chamber will be launched. Representatives of the Chamber of Commerce and the Kiwanis club will visit every other club in the city during the next ten days and will issue special invitations to the forum dinner.

Membership Closed In Music Club Oratorio

John Smallman, director of the Oratorio department of Glendale Music club, has closed membership until after the May concert. It was announced at the rehearsal last night at Harvard High school. Two weeks from tonight members of the department will hold rehearsal and social affair at the Nathan Rigdon home.

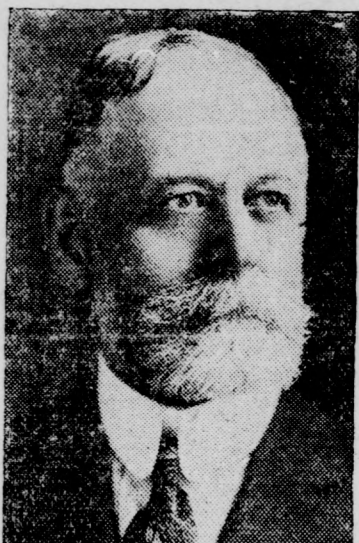

Woman Faces Court On Violating 'Dry' Ruling

Anniversary

CHARLES H. TOLL, who started his banking career 25 years ago today, and is now vice-president of the Security Trust & Savings bank.

Twenty-five years ago today,

Charles H. Toll of this city entered upon one of the most successful careers in Southern California banking history. It was on April 1, 1900, that he accepted his first banking position—that of cashier of the then Southern California Savings bank. When that bank merged with the Security Trust & Savings bank five years later, Mr. Toll was promoted from cashier to vice-president, which position he holds today.

Coming to Southern California as a young man, 20 years old, from his birthplace in Clinton, Iowa, Mr. Toll was in time to witness the astonishing boom of Los Angeles from a small town of 20,000 to an enterprising city of 50,000, almost over night. The real estate craze, however, did not appeal to Mr. Toll and he sought a more steady and reliable means of support. Shortly after arriving in the city he was employed by a large wholesale house as a credit man.

"It was largely due to this connection," said Mr. Toll, "that I later was able to secure a position as cashier for the old Southern California Savings bank. I met and became acquainted with a wide circle of young, energetic business men who had the future of the city at heart. Most of these men are today prominent as leading business men and bankers."

Lives in Glendale

Mr. Toll, with his wife and four sons, lives at his large residence at 1555 Kenneth road, one of the show places of Glendale. The Tolls are active in civic and social circles, both here and in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Toll is a past president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, likewise of the California Federation of Women's clubs. She is also a past president of the Glendale Board of Education.

Mr. Toll is known as one of the most active supporters of charity and civic welfare enterprises. At the present time he is treasurer of the Allied Social Agencies. He is also a member of the executive board of the Salvation Army, a position he has held for some years. Shortly before joining the bank, Mr. Toll served four years as a member of the Los Angeles City Council.

The Security banker is a member of the California club, the University club and the Los Angeles Athletic club.

Annoyers Of School Girls Given Warning

A campaign to stop all annoyances to school children in the outlying districts was started today when Detective Sergeant W. J. Royle warned two men residing in a shack in the Grand View district to refrain from making further advances to small children passing the place to and from the Grand View school.

Complaint against the men was made through the office of the Glendale board of education after an investigation by the principal and janitor of the Grand View school.

A close watch is to be kept hereafter by the police at all places where similar annoyances have been reported. Chief of Police John D. Fraser and his staff are co-operating with the principals of all of the schools to stop the practice, he announced today.

Dog Show Officials Thank C. C. For Help

"Thank you for your co-operation and effort in behalf of our recent specialty show, held in Glendale. With your assistance we were able to make the show a great success. Hope to be with you again next year, when we will be in a position to give you more and ask for less."

In These Terms The Pacific Coast Bulldog Club Thanked The Glendale Chamber of Commerce For assistance in staging their recent show in Glendale. The chamber furnished the showroom here without charge. Other larger dog shows will be brought to Glendale in the future as a result of the successful show of the Bulldog club, it was said.

Christian Endeavorers In Topsy Turvy Party

A topsy turvy party was held last night by the Young People's Christian Endeavor society of the Tropico Presbyterian church at the home of Miss Lois Perry at 212 East Palmer avenue. Thirty young people were present including a delegation from the Epworth league of Central avenue Methodist church. Decorations in the home were suggestive of Hal-low-e'en. Thanksgiving, Christmas and St. Patrick's day carrying out the idea of a topsy turvy affair.

A fortune teller's booth was a feature. Miss Frances Goldsborough and Miss Perry were in charge. Refreshments were served. Proceeds of the party will be used to defray expenses of delegates to the national C. E. convention to be held in Portland, Ore., next summer. SEWER CONSTRUCTION STARTS IN ATWATER

First Laterals Will Be Placed Along
Tyburn Street; Automatic Digging
Apparatus Installed for Work

Work on Atwater Park sewer laterals, to later connect with the new Glendale outfall sewer, was commenced by a large construction crew yesterday. The first pipes will be laid along Tyburn street. This line will be one of the main trunks of the Atwater system. A big automatic digging apparatus was at work on Tyburn street today, digging east from Glenhurst avenue.

Vitrified clay sewer pipe, furnished by the Tropico Potteries, an Atwater Park industry, will be used in the construction of the sewers. The new system will be completed over the entire district in time to connect with the Glendale outfall and go into operation as soon as the latter trunk lines are ready for use.

School Plans Announced

Perfecting plans for the addition to the Atwater grammar school, calling for a second wing similar to the present building and a large auditorium connecting the two structures, were announced by Miss Rosalind Gates, principal. Ten class rooms will be included in the new building which will face on Atwater avenue and be located south of the present school. Connecting the two will be the auditorium, affording 200 additional class rooms when de-equipped with stage, moving picture projection room and other features.

Plans and specifications for the addition are now ready and bids will soon be called for. An appropriation of $83,000 is available for the completion of the new school facilities. With the second wing built sufficient class rooms will be provided to entirely do away with half-day schedules at the school unless an unexpected increase in population occurs in the district during the coming spring and summer months.

Official School Census

An official census of pupils attending the Atwater grammar school, setting to rest many controversies between residents of different parts of the district, was announced by Miss Gates, principal, along with plans for the school addition. The census shows a total of 565 pupils in attendance at the school who reside south of the Glendale boulevard in the vicinity of the present school. None of these, it is pointed out, have to cross the Pacific Electric right-of-way. There are 252 pupils from the north side of the track who have to cross Glendale avenue and the car tracks to get to school. Of these latter 123 are in the primary classes including those from the first to fourth grades, Miss Gates said.

AIR RODEO FOR BARBARA

SANTA BARBARA, April 1.—

Definite plans for Santa Barbara's first air regatta are being completed with Earle Ovington, commodore of the Santa Barbara Aero club in charge of affairs. "This movement has gained ground rapidly since the recent Glendale air meet, when plans were laid for the formation of an all-inclusive Southern California air organization."

It is planned to incorporate the city and county clubs into the organization, although the former will retain their position as branches.

HOPING FOR WAR?

A mother who had two sons in the late war said recently, "I dread to read the papers. Oh, why all this talk about war and preparing for war?"

In this connection, Montague Glass puts a pertinent statement in the mouth of Morris Perlmutter. Morris says: "The way these generals and admirals act in writing articles and making speeches is that they ain't so much preparing for war as hoping for war." And he continues: "Generals and admirals ain't got no business to write about war for millions of people to read, any more than doctors have to write about diseases that way. I don't know no more about medical science than I do about military science, Abe, but this I do know, which is that if I read an article by a doctor about a terrible disease, right away I begin to imagine that I've got all the symptoms of the disease in its worst stages immediately before the arrival of the undertaker, and it's the same way when I read articles by generals about the next war. If it wasn't that a general or an admiral told me in an article how New York could be blown into the Atlantic ocean by English or French aviators I would consider England and France as two countries where I would like to go for a summer's vacation. But when I read these here magazine articles, right away I imagine that I hate England and France, and when the people of one country imagine that they hate the people of another and the generals of them two countries begin to map out imaginary wars, with imaginary fleets of airplanes and imaginary submarine battles, it don't take long for such imagination to run away with them two countries and they drag in half a dozen or more countries with them."

Peace will never come about through thinking of war and carrying on imaginary military campaigns, but it is a little difficult to know where to draw the line. The people should know what is going on in the way of appropriations and plans for national defense.

We are hoping for much from future international discussions and disarmament conferences.

SITE QUESTION WILL NOT DOWN

We felt considerable relief when the matter of the site for the southern branch of the University of California was settled, even though it was not settled to our liking. Knowing that everyone could not be pleased, we acquiesced in the decision of the regents and thought the matter closed. But on all sides we hear the comment: "We shall hear more about the southern branch site. It isn't settled yet." And comments of newspapers outside of Los Angeles are to the effect that the question is still open.

That certain interests in Los Angeles had enough pull to secure the Beverly-Westwood site is by no means a guarantee that the taxpayers of Los Angeles will bond themselves to the tune of $700,000 to pay for the land, especially since many Los Angeles people favored other locations for the university that were offered free of charge.

Really interests have already benefited many thousands of dollars by the selection of the Beverly-Westwood site, but these interests may be disappointed in getting the people of Los Angeles to contribute to the purchase of the site.

The San Bernardino Sun says: "The rest of Southern California will watch developments with reference to this $700,000 for the university site with no little degree of interest. It was announced in advance, and we took it as a fact, that free sites were offered by land and commercial interests, one in Burbank, another near Pasadena, a third in the Palos Verdes rancho and a fourth at Fullerton. The Burbank site is in the city of Los Angeles, and its proponents can now have the fun of helping to pay for the site that defeated them—if this bond issue carries."

FOREIGN SECURITIES MEASURE

The "foreign securities" taxation measure authorized by the people of California last November has been passed by the Legislature and signed by the governor and will be in effect next year. This is the measure that won undesired notoriety by being made use of as propaganda against California. It was represented in the east that this law would tax tourists and visitors, although at no stage of the proceedings was such a proposal ever considered.

This measure gave the Legislature authority to decrease the tax on intangible securities issued in other states but owned by residents of California. The new law provides that all notes, debentures, shares of capital stock, bonds, mortgages or deeds of trust based upon property outside of California and all solvent credits based upon property outside of or within the state shall be assessed to residents of California at 7 per cent of the full cash value thereof, instead of 100 per cent, as the law formerly provided. Under the old law the tax was more than the interest on the bond or mortgage or the dividend from the stock. As a result, many residents of California became law-evaders or maintained their legal residence elsewhere.

While it is a question whether the new law will have the intended effect, which is to cause tax-evaders to produce some of these hidden securities for taxation, yet it is a good measure, for the former rate of taxation on foreign securities was no less than confiscatory.

LOOK FOR BIG TOURIST SEASON

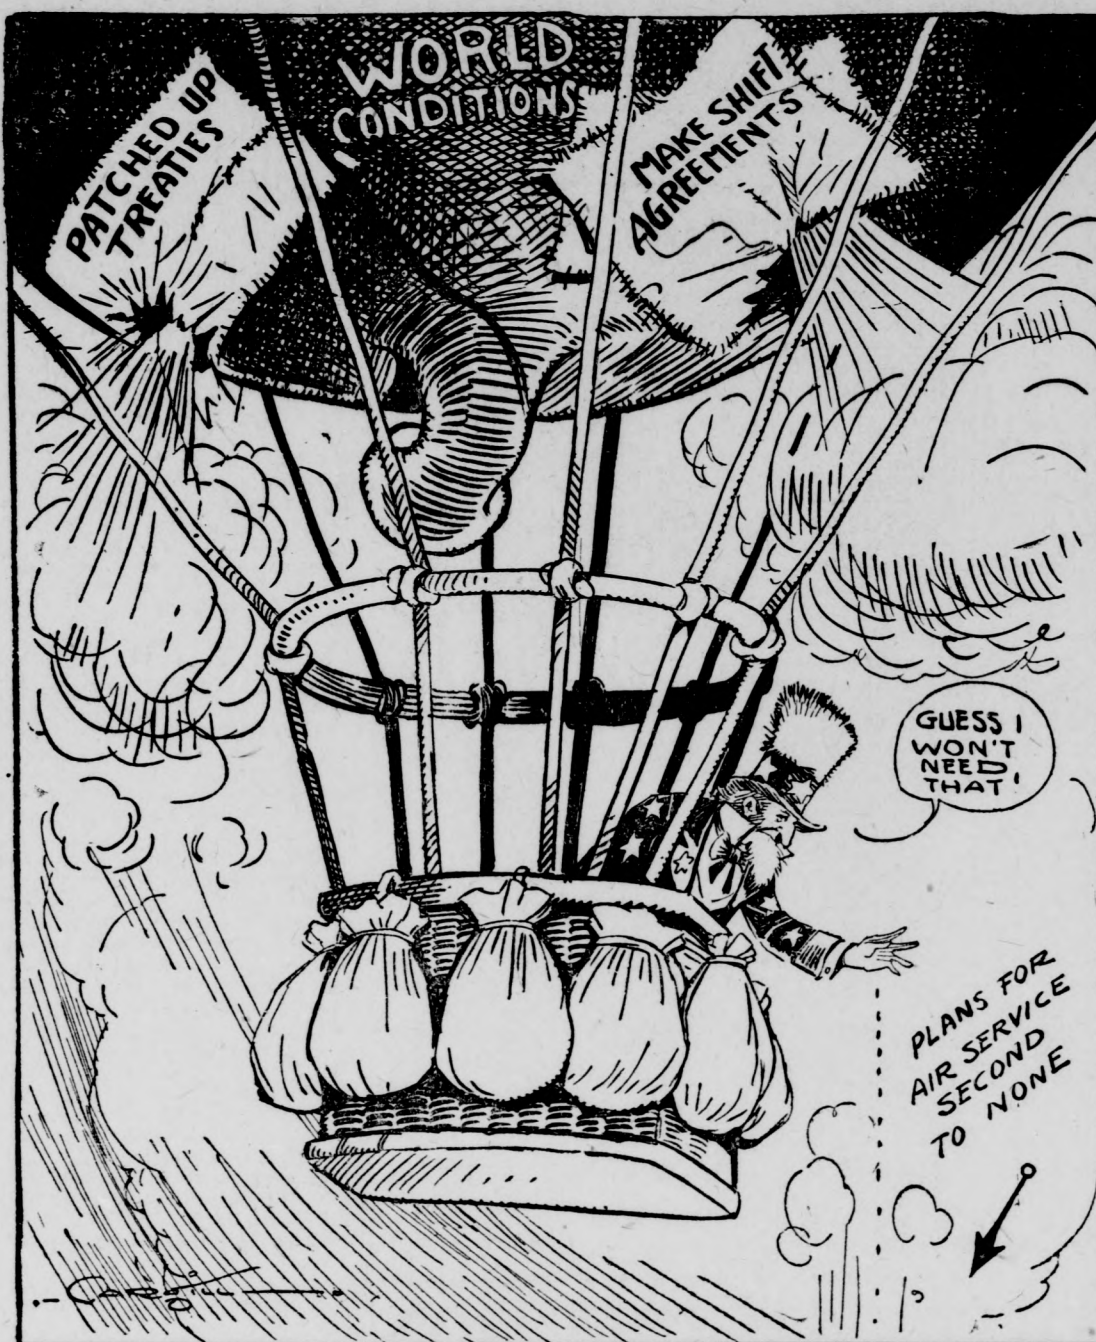

The transcontinental railways are preparing for the greatest tourist movement toward Southern California this year that the southland has ever known. And inquiries received by automobile clubs indicate that large numbers of autos will soon be on all roads leading toward the southwest. Improved conditions in the east and a large number of big conventions to be held in Southern California in part account for the expected increase in travel westward.

Advertising of the All Year Club of California, which features our delightful summer climate and attractions, as well as our winter charms, is bearing fruit. This advertising is prepared from the standpoint that there is no need for exaggeration when picturing California's attractions.

Bringing in the tourist is the first step toward adding to our substantial citizenship, for a large per cent of the people who come to Southern California, even for a short visit, are never really contented to live anywhere else.

Perhaps We'd Better Not Discard Our Parachute Too Hastily

Materialism

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Books are now being published which represent the feeling at the close of the war.

I have just recently seen a book which contains all of the moral slump that came over the world after the war. It tries to give expression to the vein of post-war pessimism which is undoubtedly on the increase.

The hero, a ruthless materialist, finds everything turns to ashes in his mouth. He makes money and finds it valueless. He loves, but finds that he can live easily without it. He acquires power but discovers no use for it.

It is "Ecclesiastes" brought up to date, but it does fill me with misgivings to see so many people whose philosophy is so arid that they care for nothing.

It is as silly to dwell upon the impermanence of human delights as it is to pretend they are permanent. The theory advocated by Browning that a man should cater to the senses, which will but that it doesn't matter what that something is, has a great deal to recommend it.

In war time we took things seriously. There were prizes to be won and battles to be fought. But there is danger that after this shall come the reaction when we take nothing seriously.

No war can be fought without a great deal of idealism, for men will not throw away their lives for nothing.

From the peak of this idealism it is natural that we may slump into materialism and that pessimism should be rampant for awhile. But this cannot last, for the pessimist is not a true interpreter of life.

The only unforgiving offense a man can commit against life is to cease caring. For to live at all is to care; that is, it is to value the ideals above all things.

Doubtless in time the pendulum will swing back and the pessimism and indifference, will be succeeded by the rise in interest in all things.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNAIRD

"Your column is too pessimistic," writes R. A. L. "Can't you quote someone who has some hope for mankind?"

Volney is the most magnificent prophet of hope I can recommend to him. The great Frenchman, in his "Ruins of Empires," preaches that though the great day will be long in coming because the same movement must be given to an immense body, and the same progress toward a better state. He, discontent with the present, imagines for the past a perfection that never existed. Volney opined, "He praises the dead out of contempt for the living, and beats the children with the bones of their ancestors."

"Some countries have fallen from what they were at certain epochs. They contain only a title of their former population; they have lost their dominant positions among nations, and even nationality itself; but when we compare the intelligence and general condition of the people to-day of those nations with the intelligence and condition of the masses of the nations at the height of their glory, we shall find that the 'fall' is more apparent than real."

So despair not. "Has not man, since his origin, made some progress toward a better state? He, discontent with the present, imagines for the past a perfection that never existed."

Volney opined, "He praises the dead out of contempt for the living, and beats the children with the bones of their ancestors."

"Some countries have fallen from what they were at certain epochs. They contain only a title of their former population; they have lost their dominant positions among nations, and even nationality itself; but when we compare the intelligence and general condition of the people to-day of those nations with the intelligence and condition of the masses of the nations at the height of their glory, we shall find that the 'fall' is more apparent than real."

"In those former times there were enormous vices and cruel abuses; corruption in the administration of government; insolent robberies, and barbarous wars, and implacable hatreds raging from nation to nation. Natural right was unknown, and morality was perverted by senseless fanaticism and deplorable superstition."

"Nations are still cursed with these evils, but their intensity is diminished."

"For the last three centuries, especially Volney wrote this in the eighteenth century, knowledge has increased and been extended, and civilization has made sensible progress. The art of printing has made possible the communication of ideas to all classes, and science is becoming a common possession."

"Man as inevitably tends to render himself happy as the flame to mount, the stone to descend, or water to find its level. His obstacle is his ignorance, which misleads him in the means and deceives him in causes and effects. He will enlighten himself by experience, by scientific knowledge, and, in time, he will grow wise and good, because it is his interest to be. He will feel that private happiness is allied to public good."

Timely Views

"Big business is in the saddle at Washington, and the men who dominate are Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury; Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, and Senator William M. Butler of Massachusetts," declared Joseph Daniels of Raleigh, N. C., secretary of the navy under Woodrow Wilson, in an address in Cleveland.

"The scepter of power, once held by the church, passed in the administration of Grant into the hands of the military," he said. "Then it passed into the hands of the lawyers, and then to the editors."

"But today it is in the hands of business—big business. The building of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States in Washington is in a commanding position. It looks down upon the White House, the treasury and the state, war and navy buildings."

"Everybody, editors, church and civic organizations, agree that the United States must take a seat at the world's conference table. Everybody is for the conference, everybody wants to get in, but they don't know how to find the door."

"I'll tell you how to get in. Go to the building of the Chamber of Commerce and get in touch with the great triumvirate—Hoover, Mellon, and Butler."

But business has changed, Daniels said. Once it stood on the slogan, "Let the buyer beware." Today, he said, it goes that its own welfare is tied up in the welfare of all.

Daniels urged complete development of the airplane as an arm of national defense. "I do not think we can fully protect our coast line without the airplane. I believe the conquest of the air is the future conquest we must make. The secretaries of war and navy owe it to the American people to tell them what

UNIVERSITY BOND BILL IS FAVORED

Senate Finance Committee
Reports On Measure;
New Site Urged

SACRAMENTO, April 1.—The Senate finance committee today reported favorably on the $5,500,000 bond issue election bill proposed by Senator Charles W. Lyon, Los Angeles, calling for appropriations for state buildings in Sacramento and Los Angeles, and university buildings at Beverly Hills and Berkeley.

From the farmers, however, came opposition to the bonds for the university branch at Beverly Hills, according to Assemblyman Van Bernard, spokesman for the agrarian bloc. With Senator J. J. Hollister, Santa Barbara, he proposes a joint resolution criticizing the board of regents for the selection and advising that a state site be chosen where agriculture may be taught in connection with southern branch university.

Introduction of the resolution is held up pending word from Fullerton, Burbank and other communities offering the advantage of agricultural lands, Bernard stated.

shown last evening when the girl crumpled into a faint for the tenth time since her trial started and fell from her chair at counsel table in the midst of the court session. Hitherto she had been able to fight back the "faint impulse," until the session closed.

Dr. Ball, chief defense alienist, was to tell again the nine men and three women of the jury selected to determine the girl's sanity that she is insane, a pathological liar and without comprehension of the nature of the proceedings against her.

His testimony will follow a succession of witnesses who will tell the story of her life. Her father and brother are expected to tell of her childish tantrums, her disdain of restraint, her girlish temper, her indifference to the prayers of her mother and her mad infatuation for the life of jazzland.

Then will come an array of girls and "sheiks" who were her companions on "parties" in the dance halls and who will tell of her vagaries and conduct which, before she killed her mother, made her "the life of the party."

In order to permit this array of witnesses to be summoned, court was in adjournment until 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Kills Lions Which Ate 130

COL. JOHN H. PATTERSON, fearless hunter, who single-handed, bagged two lions that terrorized people in Africa, where many persons were devoured by the shaggy monarchs of the forest.

LONDON, April 1.—A thrilling story concerning an adventure of Colonel John H. Patterson, D.S.O., noted British engineer, soldier, big game hunter and author, is circulating in London's sporting clubs.

Colonel Patterson, hunting single-handed, brought in the heads and skins of two lions who had devoured 130 men.

It happened in Africa. He was in charge of the construction of a section of a railway. Native workers began to desert, terrified by stories of two super-lions who roamed the jungle in the vicinity of the railway. All sorts of traps failed to catch them, and even the customary barbed-wire fences and huge camp fires failed to keep them from surprising the camp and snatching living, breathing food.

The colonel built a tower in the jungle and waited a visit from the man-eaters. Luck was with him, and the moon was flashing in the sky when they came to stalk him in the dead of night. He was able to pick them off with his high-powered rifle.

Patterson calls this the most thrilling adventure in his eventful life. He has been cited for bravery a number of times in the Boer and World Wars.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—"Bear Ribs."

No not a new table delicacy, but the official Indian name for Calvin Coolidge, the president of the United States.

The White House was informed of the president's latest cognomen today in a letter from a committee of Indian chiefs at the Standing Rock Indian agency, Fort Yates, N. D.

The signers of the letter, Pius Shoot First, Jovita Badger and Antoine Claymore, explained that "Bear Ribs" was a "far seeing progressive" Indian who had endeavored to teach his tribe the white man's ways that there might be peace.

Unfortunately the Indians of that day objected to his teachings and he was murdered.

"But we know that 'Bear Ribs' was right, and we honor his memory," the communication to the president said.

Urging that bad-check writers be prosecuted hereafter by Glendale merchants in an attempt to stop the continual loss because of failure to take criminal action, Albert G. This money will be used in paying necessary expenses of members in filing criminal charges and appearing in court as complaining witnesses against bad-check writers.

"The only way to stop the writing of bad checks is to put some of the persons who do it in jail," Cornwell declared. "A number of them behind the bars, and I believe we will not be troubled further by this type of people."

No action was taken today on a request to the board of directors by various members for a night session of the organization to be held once each month. Many drug gists and others, it was explained, are unable to attend luncheon gatherings.

WIDE BOULEVARD OBJECT OF CLUB

Proposed Road Will Connect
Los Angeles, Pasadena
Via Glendale

An eighty-foot boulevard extending through Glendale from the heart of Los Angeles to Pasadena is the goal decided upon at a meeting last night of the South Glendale Business Men's Improvement association.

A committee headed by L. H. Wilson was appointed to co-operate with similar committees from the Chevy Chase drive district and the Riverside drive territory in Los Angeles. The boulevard plans contemplated the widening and improving of Park avenue from Chevy Chase drive to Riverside drive, connecting the two and renaming the entire boulevard Chevy Chase drive.

The three combined committees will discuss the matter within the next week with the regional planning commission, which is already said to favor the project. Associated with Wilson on the Glendale committee is Dr. Earl Eames, S. S. Berns and B. C. Spears.

Investigation Made
The Glendale organization has been working on the plan for several weeks, and last night's action was the outgrowth of a lengthy investigation into its possibilities. Property owners along the entire length of the project from Los Angeles, through Glendale and to Pasadena favor the action, it was announced today.

The improvement association also plans the lowering of the

MAJOR TRAFFIC PLAN ADVOCATED

Consolidation of Problems
Under One Head Favored
By Commission

Consolidation of all of Glendale's traffic problems under one head to work out a major traffic plan to be put into effect by the Glendale Traffic commission was agreed upon at a meeting today of the commission at the Oakmont Country club. By-laws and the constitution of the organization were read at today's meeting and will be adopted at the next session at the Oakmont Country club April 15.

Immediate enforcement of the school stop and boulevard stop ordinances was recommended by the commission, after a short talk by Richardson D. White, superintendent of schools, who declared there had been three serious accidents during the last few months because of violating of the school stop ordinance.

A paid secretary will be obtained by the commission to handle all of the detail work of that organization. A committee headed by Dr. T. C. Young was appointed to consider applications and to report back at the next meeting.

FISHER'S VARIETY STORE QUITS BUSINESS IN GLENDALE FOREVER!

FISHER VARIETY STORE QUIT!

The announcement that the Fisher Variety Store quits business in Glendale was startling news to the many friends this store has made since its beginning here in Glendale.

The public is acquainted with the high character of merchandise we have carried and the extremely low prices we have asked and it was due to this business policy that made its growth.

After careful deliberation I find it necessary to dispose of my entire stock in order to give my attention to other stores.

Selling out is no small task, but after you have read and seen how I have slashed the prices, the public will respond quickly to help clear this merchandise away.

Profits play no part in this sale—Real action is needed now. Former prices have absolutely been disregarded in the effort to clear this store out in as short a time as possible. My advice is Buy Now and for the Future!

KILT SKIRT STYLE MAKES ITS DEBUT

From Waistline Down Dress
Turns Into Scotch
Plaid Of Silk

By AILEEN LAMONT
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1923.
WASHINGTON, April 1.—Washington, through diplomatic channels is closer to Paris than New York. Diplomats and their wives bring their costumes in free of duty and as a result the latest note from Paris is being sounded up and down Connecticut avenue to the skirt of the bagpipes. Nobody knows when "the Campbells are coming," but the kilt skirt has arrived.
One of the newest frocks is a dress of white crepe de chine. From the waist line down it turns into a Scotch kilt of plaid Shantung silk, pleated exactly in the same fashion as those of the Gordon highlanders. The kilt comes somewhat below the knees but not much. The knees are discreetly covered with stockings of white although the buckles of the highlanders are reproduced on the black patent leather pumps.

Stuart Plaid
The Stuart plaid is a favorite color combination although earnest investigation of the diplomatic and congressional directories has revealed no Bonnie Prince Charlie to sponsor it. The blue bonnets of the border do not accompany these costumes. Indeed the hats are adding to the high cost of living. The wide floppy cape-line hats have come into their own even if the Stuarts have not and bus, street car, taxi and automobile seats no longer accommodate the same number of passengers as formerly.

All the fashionable Washington woman has to do to insure privacy in a public vehicle is to tilt her head toward the aisle. All she need do to avoid masculine annoyance is to turn her head sharply. If the hat brim fails to cut the winking eye from the unwelcome masculine admirer, the long dangling ear-rings, imported from London, will beat him a stinging blow on the jaw.

FOUR-RING CIRCUS OPENS NEXT WEEK

Woman Animal Trainer Tells About Barnes' Big Show
Here On April 8

Do wild animals like to do tricks?
That's a question that is often asked Al G. Barnes and his trainers. Let Miss Helen Roth, who will be seen in one of the three steel-girded arenas of the Al G. Barnes big four-ring circus, when that big show comes to Glendale, Wednesday, April 8, answer the question in her own way:

"Wild animals mostly dislike to learn at first. They're exactly like little children. But when they find that no harm is meant, that each lesson is given in kindness, with tidbit rewards for each proper advance, they begin to exhibit interest. Soon they do their work with zeal. In fact, the happiest hour of the day for my pumas, next to feeding time, of course, is that in which they exhibit their higher education to the crowds in the stands.

They Like Exercise
"Pumas, especially, are peculiarly susceptible to domestication, when taken young. You have only to watch them dash from the cages into the arenas, if you have any doubt. They love to exercise, the change, the excitement and the music. That's where they are better off than the zoo animals. They have a real interest in their work, and work is a blessing, isn't it?"
These pumas are only a part of the 2000 wild animals with the Al G. Barnes circus this year. The circus also includes a cast of 1050 people and 550 horses. The opening, sensational feature in the big program this year is "Pocahontas at the Court of Queen Anne," including in the cast three tribes of Indians: Washoes, Escondidos and Apaches. And last, but not least, you will see the greatest movie star of them all—Joe Martin, himself.

AUTHOR OF PLAY HAS MASTERPIECE

So Patrons of Playhouse Say
Who Have Seen Latest
Dobinson Vehicle

As the profane and irreverent "Nellie" O'Brien in "Manna," might ask: "How does she get that way?"

The query is directed at Olga Printzlau, the author of "Manna," which is off to a triumphant run at the Glendale Playhouse. For she is only a young girl, apparently, with little experience of the world, and yet the play is a masterpiece of construction and of stagecraft.

Miss Printzlau has coolly appropriated the trick of Shakespeare, and uses it with a great deal of the effectiveness of the master himself in her development of her story. Shakespeare never hesitated, when he wanted to make a point, to drag in—rather, to insinuate, so cleverly was it done—an entirely new character, who spoke perhaps a dozen or a hundred words, made the point necessary to the development of the story, and vanished forever from the scene.

And that is what the author of "Manna" does. The play is a series of episodes. Apparently they are unrelated; and characters appear in each of the episodes who do not appear in any of the others. But as one analyzes it, admiration for Miss Printzlau's craftsmanship grows. The episodes are closely knit together into the warp and woof of the play. Each is vital in the development and in the driving home of the story. The Salvation Army; the good natured Irish policeman, the pestiferous woman with her brat who invades the hospital for disabled soldiers to prod them with morbid curiosity as with a badawl—each person and factor is essential.

Scene That Lingers
A scene that lingers in the memory from a host of great scenes is that in which William Stephens portrays Jerry, the desperate young husband out of work and almost a criminal, and Blythe, his wife. The part of the latter is taken by Mary Isabelle Alpaugh. It is seldom that a young and attractive woman like Miss Alpaugh is willing to sink an appealing personality in the drab garments of the tenements, without a single relieving bit of color. But she proved the soul of the artist by doing it and gave a scene, with the perfect support of young Stephens, of splendid effectiveness.

The popularity of the Salvation Army was attested after the performances of Monday and Tuesday nights by the heavily laden tambourines at the front door. Moved by the play, the audience seemed eager to show their approval of the Army and of the spirit of willingness to serve, which has actuated the district commander and his soldiers. For there are real Salvationists who appear in "Manna."

Newest Star

'PAL' Hoot Gibson's new horse actor, showing at Glendale theatre, is "easy buck-or." Big vaudeville bill tonight.

Hoot Gibson, who knows horses, as perhaps no other man does—and knows automobiles equally as well from his career as a racing driver—says he's discovered something new. A bucking horse with shock absorbers and balloon tires!

This is how he described "Pal," his wonderful new "golden mare," who can buck in all the ways known to equine cantankerousness, but still is so easy of gait when not called upon to do her tricks that he calls her the Rolls Royce of the Range.

Pal appears for the first time since her picture education in Gibson's new Universal feature "The Hurricane Kid," which opens today at the Glendale Theatre for two days.

Big Vaudeville Bill
Besides the feature film, the theatre has also arranged a stellar vaudeville bill consisting of Lou Zoeller, song writer and Janet Bodwell, the world's smallest prima donna in "Numbers of Their Own." Benito in "Fiddling Around," will also appear.

The new Gibson horse is a thoroughbred actress, and the scenes between Pal and her wild mate—a romance between two animals—is engrossing as the parallel romance between Gibson and Marian Nixon, leading lady. Besides romance there are thrills galore, for Gibson stages a desperate race with a running battle on horseback, and the scenes showing the capture and breaking in of a wild horse in the Sierra foothills are startling and spectacular.

Paavo Nurmi Moves On To Ottawa For Race

BOSTON, April 1.—Paavo Nurmi, winner in the scratch mile and a half run at the Elks' games here last night, moved on to Ottawa today in his tour of the North American continent. Nurmi's time was 6:47. This was 7 3/5 seconds behind his world's record.

Joie Ray of Chicago was forced to stop at the end of the tenth lap because of an injured leg. Willie Ritola, wearing the colors of the Finnish-American A. C., New York, set a new record for the Mechanics' building track of 9:22 in the two-mile handicap.

DEATH STALKS

TOKIO, April 1.—Across the barren fields of five Korean provinces, according to reports reaching Tokio, famine is stalking and more than 150,000 Koreans face death unless outside relief is forthcoming. Conditions not far behind the famine in Northwest Korea in 1919 are said to be rapidly developing.

HELEN KELLER TO TELL LIFE STORY

Wonder Girl to Speak Friday Night At High School
On Gaining Voice

The amazing story of breaking through the barrier of blindness, deafness and silence, which seemed fated to cut her off forever from the world, will be told Friday night at Broadway High school, by Helen Keller, who comes to Glendale under the auspices of the Tuesday Afternoon club, Glendale Federation Parent-Teacher associations and local men's service clubs. She will speak at 8 o'clock and it is anticipated that the school auditorium will be filled to capacity to hear her.

In her autobiography Miss Keller tells the story of the first rift in the darkness of her life. It came when Miss Anne Sullivan, her teacher, held the pupil's hand under a stream of water and over and over until the child's other hand felt the letters W-A-T-E-R.

Soul Awakened
"I stood there," says Miss Keller, "my whole attention fixed upon the movements of her fingers. Suddenly I felt a mystic consciousness that something had gotten. That living word awakened my soul, gave it light, hope, joy, set it free!"
On Friday night Miss Keller will give an account of the workings of the American Foundation for the Blind, an organization to which she is devoting much of her life.

FAMILY THEATRE PARTY IS HELD

Tuesday Afternoon Club Is Sponsor For Event At Local Playhouse

Tuesday Afternoon club members, their families and friends, crowded the clubhouse auditorium last night to enjoy the production of Olga Printzlau's play, "Manna," by the Dobinson Players. The high commendation voiced by the first night audience of the play's success was emphasized by the club company last night, all of whom declared that the play is an outstanding artistic accomplishment for Fred J. Butler, director, and the cast.

"No one can attend the production of 'Manna' by the Dobinson Players without gaining something spiritual," said Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, club president. "It is a play that all Glendale should see, no matter what denomination or creed. Faith is the theme of the play and every member of the cast has grasped the dramatic story Miss Printzlau seeks to tell."

The theatre party, arranged by Mrs. John Robert White, jr., and Mrs. A. A. Barton, was announced as a "family affair." Following the play, club members and guests met informally in the banquet hall and palm court to enjoy refreshments served by the hospitality committee.

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, April 1.—In a determined effort to have an end to the present flood situation in the present flood situation in Burbank, City Engineer Rose will bring County Supervisor Wright and members of the county flood control commission to this city to see the damage done by recent rains, he has announced.

The accumulation of water falling in the hills rushed down through canyons to Stough canyons, he says, and gathering there, comes down into the city, carrying with it a quantity of debris. There is danger to Burbank in its path, he contends.

Work has been started on the two-story concrete club building to be erected for the National Forest county club, promoted by S. P. Allen of Burbank. The site is in the hills above Roscoe, six miles from this city. The entire second floor will be fitted up for living rooms, while the total cost will be about $100,000.

Mrs. Florence Pomeroy Raab, formerly of Detroit, now of Santa Maria, is lecturing before Burbank audiences under the auspices of the Business and Professional Women's club of Burbank. She is a house guest of Mrs. E. W. Morgan of Grinnell drive.

Picnicking in a snow storm in the Los Angeles county park on the northern slope of Mt. Baldy, a party from Burbank reported a pleasant outing. They motored from Burbank in a rainstorm and arrived at Mt. Baldy in a heavy snowfall.

A membership drive is being conducted by the South Burbank improvement association. Teams have been selected, the losing group to banquet the winners at the close of the campaign. Meetings are held the last Thursday of each month at the Abraham Lincoln school.

'FATTY'S' FIANCEE WATCHES DIETING

Doris Deane, Film Actress
Sees To It Arbuckle
Loses 60 Pounds

By CHARLES B. DAWSON
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925, LOS ANGELES, April 1.—Doris Deane, film actress and fiancée of Roscoe Arbuckle, corpulent cinema director, has greatly influenced the life of the former comedy star. Now her greatest preoccupation is to influence his diet and prevent him from gaining back the sixty pounds he lost during their courtship.

When Arbuckle and Miss Deane left for Coronado for a week-end trip, she took along her best cook books. Between races at Tia Juana she will review recipes of tasty dishes she expects to prepare in the Beverly Hills mansion to be occupied by them after their marriage. No fat and starchy foods will be the rule.

Arbuckle and his fiancée are described by their friends in Hollywood as ideal lovers. They have recovered from the abrupt intrusion of the laws of France in their contemplated marriage. March 24, and are now arranging nuptial details to be solemnized here about April 10.

To Continue Directing
"Fatty" will continue to direct his nephew, Al St. John, in comedies, after his marriage. Miss Deane will continue to play opposite St. John in the productions. Those close to Arbuckle say he may eventually disregard the expectations of the fans of the United States to his appearing on the screen and again becoming a film comedian, again directing his own pictures, with Miss Deane playing opposite him.

During the last year and a half Arbuckle, yielding to the unusual influence of Miss Deane, has abandoned riotous living and cafe night life. He has exceptional respect for the eighteenth amendment and is the constant companion of the tall, slender actress who is eager to cast her lot with him as his bride.

TRAVELED WOMAN KNOWS HER STUFF

No Longer Do Unkempt Heads Bustle Down Aisle In Morning

By AILEEN LAMONT
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925
NEW YORK, April 1.—There is sometime a decided difference between a traveled American and a traveling American. One has only to stand in the waiting room of a great railroad to recognize that fact. Formerly most women when traveling wore a suit with a wash blouse. Today even in sections where the weather is warm, the best dressed women travel in long-sleeved dresses of dark material. Over these a top coat may be worn. Despite the general vogue for short sleeves, these have been completely abandoned so far as traveling costumes are concerned.
No longer do brightly kimonoed and slippered figures steal down the aisle of the Pullman in the gray dawn, with a mouth full of hair pins, a straggly bra hanging over the shoulders, and a bulging corset tucked under one arm. If the modern woman traveler wears a corset of any kind, the chances are that it slips on without difficulty and is flexible enough to adjust in a berth.
The bobbed hair fashion has put an end to long and elaborate struggles with brush, comb and hair pins. Now that many a woman wears a small jeweled comb around the neck as an ornament, she runs it through her short hair, slips on her hat, thrusts her feet into buttonless and laceless pumps, pulls her one-piece frock over her head and emerges from between her berth curtains practically fully dressed. A few moments in the dressing room with soap, towel, cold cream and powder-puff is all she requires.

COMMENT BY GIL A. COWAN

More rainfall the first of the week in Northern California has brought another million dollars' worth of prosperity to vegetable and fruit growers as well as the "sky farmers" as those who till unirrigated lands are called. Incidentally, late snows in the mountains also mean brimming rivers for the next three months which will carry on the work of cultivation.
After all it is from the fruits and flowers, the vegetables and the field crops that California gets its very best of living. Not only do these things of nature make life worth living, but they provide an unending source of revenue.
Mines may be worked out, oil wells go dry, and so on, but the world's market beckons to the fruit, the preserves, the canned vegetables, the baled hay and cotton. Only the trees, perhaps, from which our lumber supply comes, will be exhausted. Yet, if the present Legislature would follow the advice of Senator A. Burlingame Johnson in his reforestation program another generation would find another cutting of timber.

The lumber camps in the northern counties of California, as well as in Washington and Oregon are opening now. Loggers are thronging the little towns, according to reports received here, and a prosperous year is in store for the trade. Practically all the cities are enjoying a building boom to a greater or less extent.
Also, this is going to be a banner tourist year from all indications. If you have not invited your friends and relatives to visit Glendale this summer you have been remiss. Write them today.

The Legislature has before it a bill which would repeal the inheritance tax law in this state. That is a wise move if California would continue to appeal to the wealthy. Likewise, the federal government is considering the abolition of such taxes that put a premium on frugality.

Such Socialistic experiments, the writer believes, have proved all too costly. They have driven wealthy people to use every subterfuge to escape the penalty of enterprise and success.

Also, the writer personally believes in taxing publicly owned utilities the same as private corporations. There is no real reason why city dwellers should not share the burden with the farmers who are at the mercy of a city man's railroad commission in affixing charges for service of water and electricity.

And if we are not mistaken the State Railroad commission is going to be severely criticized, within the next week or so, when the Deuel constitutional amendment making that board elective is discussed on the floor of the assembly in the California legislature. This criticism will not be personal in its nature, but directed at the system which has grown up and overcome individuals.

Experts, rate structures, red tape and what not have so enmeshed the State Railroad commission that justice apparently has been bandaged tightly about the eyes.

BIRTH CONTROL IS AGAIN POPPING UP

Annual Conference Has Decided To Campaign For 'Big Fry'

By EDNA MARSHALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925
NEW YORK, April 1.—Victorious in their campaign of converting "small fry"—or so they firmly believe—delegates to the Sixth Annual International Birth Control conference in session here now plan to turn their attention to the bigger guns—the president, his cabinet and members of congress.

Already several hundred thousand "mere people" have been enlisted in the cause of limiting the human output of the world. But President Coolidge is yet to be won. And congressmen must be converted. The present law against birth control must be repealed and a law favoring it must be passed, before the movement may be called a success. For today, while it has become possible to advocate birth control without losing caste, it still is against the law to purvey technical birth control information.

Birth Control Leader
Mrs. Margaret Sanger, leader of the birth control movement with a specially picked group of pretty women, plan to descend on Washington shortly after the convention closes Tuesday night, to hear the president in his White House den and to continue hearing until he lines up with the cause, convinced that the world needs it for peace, social safety and economy.

Individual campaigns, it seems, are to be the thing. And the prettier workers are to be assigned to the most important potential converts. That, of course, entails long and heated discussion as to what worker shall be assigned to which prospect.
Altogether, when this convention ends late Tuesday, it will have set the mark as one of the most unusual gatherings in the United States in at least one respect.

MR. COOLIDGE HAS STATE TO HIMSELF

Friends Believe Present Position to Be President's 'Golden Opportunity'

By DAVID LAWRENCE
By Special Leased Wire to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—President Coolidge has entered upon what some of his friends characterize as his "golden opportunity." He has the stage to himself. He has economy and efficiency as his slogan. And he has a willing cabinet to help him.

Ever since congress adjourned, the president has been trying to catch up with the many tasks that were necessarily sidetracked when he was busy with pending legislation. Some of his well-wishers thought he was making a big mistake by failing to announce a call for an extra session to begin at once a program of tax reform as well as reduction. Mr. Coolidge took the view that the country wanted "a rest from legislation" and he intends to call no extra session unless some unforeseen emergency arises though there still is talk of bringing congress here a month or so earlier than December simply to get started.

Defies Precedent
Having been told that few presidents have succeeded in holding their party in power in the congressional elections in recent years unless they called an extra session immediately after inauguration, Mr. Coolidge adopted the opposite view, namely that he could strengthen his hold on public opinion and keep his party majority in the senate and house by a demonstration of efficiency and economy in the executive branch of the government.

Congress is away—so there is no interference from that quarter by way of pestiferous joint resolutions asking for information or sudden calls to cabinet officers for testimony before committees. In other words controversy has in large part, been in the very nature of things swept from the decks and Mr. Coolidge has ahead a clear view of the country and its problems.

OILERS DEFEATED BY RADIOS; 28-14

Neel Leads In Scoring With Fifteen Markers; Game Played At Harvard

By A. S. HALL
Of The Evening News Staff.

The Standard Oilers started out strong against the Radios in their first game last night at the Harvard High school gym, but failed to continue in the second half the same sort of scoring they did in the first half, and the Radios won, 28 to 14. The tide of battle changed in the last few minutes of play in the first half, when Neel put the Radios ahead with a perfect throw.

The two teams have another game to play before the schedule is completed. Both teams finished the first round one game short and last night's contest was the first time spectators had an opportunity to judge the relative merits of the two teams when pitted against each other.

Neel was high-point man, getting fifteen markers for the Radios. Ketchum and Isenhouer shared honors on the Oilers' team, each making three goals. The other basket made by the Oilers was scored by Schenck. McKowan accounted for four baskets, a low mark for the Radios forward.

How They Played
Ketchum (S.O.) opened the scoring with a basket from near the side lines. McKowan evened the count when he caught a rebound on a free throw and tossed the casaba inside the hoop. Isenhouer (S.O.) put his team in the lead with a basket from midfloor, only to have McKowan tie up matters with another basket. Isenhouer found the hoop again to give the Oilers a lead of 6-4, and just before the quarter ended, he scored again, 8-4.

Ketchum got two baskets in quick succession in the early part of the second quarter, making the count 12-4. It began to look like a walkaway for the Oilers. Soth located the hoop, cutting down the lead to 12-6. Neel made his first basket, 12-8. Schenck (R.) made a free throw on Isenhouer's foul, pushing 12-9. McKowan cut the Oilers down still more by making a basket, 12-11. Neel put the Radios in front when he caught a throw-in from an Oiler guard, and scored, 13-12 as the half ended.

Radios Forge Ahead
The third quarter was all Radio, for the Oilers were held scoreless in this period while the Radios added four baskets. McKowan made the first, Soth sank the second and Neel located the hoop for two goals. The score at the end of the third period was Radios 21, Standard Oil, 12.

The Oilers did better in the final period, for Schenck (S.O.) got a basket. However, Neel made seven points for the Radios on three baskets and one free throw, and the final score was: Radios, 28; Oilers, 14.

The lineups:
RADIO (28) STANDARD OIL (14)
McKowan (8) R.F. Soth (6)
Worthman (5) L.F. Ketchum (6)
Neel (15) C. Isenhouer (6)
Soth (4) R.G. Schenck (2)
Schenck (1) L.G. Schenck (2)
Substitution: Bryant for Isenhouer.

Giants Depend on Lefties

NEHF and BENTLEY, a couple of southpaws, will be McGraw's mainstays in the pitching line this season, inasmuch as they turned back the Dodgers ten times last year and sent Brooklyn's pennant hopes sky high.

By NORMAN E. BROWN

Written for The Evening News

While Jawn McGraw, Hubert

Jennings and the various and assorted other "brains" of the Giants are working with their flock of ball players in the circus

town of Sarasota, Fla., this spring

they will be turning a weather-eye occasionally on Messrs. John

Bentley and Arthur Dependable

Neef, the main southpaws of the Giants pitching staff.

For, regardless of whatever new talent or new combinations may be worked up for the coming campaign with the end in view of grabbing a fifth pennant, much will depend upon these two lefties.

If their lefts are working right

everything will be right for Havana Jawn.

If they weaken Jawn may find himself left at the post.

Between these two birds last year they acquired twenty-eight victories for McGraw and were credited with but twelve defeats, which is better than a .667 average.

Not only that but they were effective where good pitching was needed most—against the ever-threatening Dodgers. It is written in the records that between them they turned back Robinson's crew just ten times. Those ten defeats may well be said to have ruined the Dodgers' chances.

McGraw will have nineteen pitchers in camp when the entire

Giants squad gets under way this spring. He is counting, however, on the men who composed his regular staff last year doing most of the work this season, at least until one or two of the youngsters show they are ready to replace

one of the vets.

Hugh McQuillan may be the first of the vets to go. If Bentley and Neef hit a winning stride

they will be two of the regulars.

The others who will come in for regular turns will be Virgil

Barnes, Bill Ryan, Ernie Mann

and Howard Baldwin.

There seems to be no doubt in the minds of the Giants bosses but that

Baldwin will deliver from the drop of the hankie.

Wayland Dean's future with the club is a problem. This Louisville star made an impressive start last year, then weakened. This is not an unusual procedure with young sters. The coming season will give the club bosses a better line on him. McGraw, for one, believes

Baseball Dope Book In Annual Appearance

First signs of the arrival of the baseball season of 1925 were evident with the departure of the major league players for their training camps, but that the season has surely arrived is now certain with the appearance of the first schedule and record book. As usual, it is The Dope Book, published by C. C. Spink & Son, St. Louis, Mo., publishers of "The Sporting News."

A feature of this book this year which fans will welcome, is the appearance of practically all the minor league schedules in connection with the major league dates given day by day. Special attention is also devoted to playing records established last year, considerable space being given to details covering World's Series and minor league statistics. Among other features are a special section devoted to complete biographies of the stars of the major league teams, instructions on how to score, completed rosters of major league teams, giving the height, weight, age, and other interesting information about all major league players.

that Dean will live up to expectations eventually.

The other pitcher of the flock booked to labor under Giant colors, who has a good chance of ending at least a relief berth in

Joe Bradshaw. This is the pitcher who joined the Giants from Toledo last spring. Bradshaw then showed plenty of stuff but Jennings felt that he needed a year

more in the minors to finish him up a bit.

McGraw can logically expect

Bentley to have as good a year if not a better one than he had last season. He is at the zenith of his career. He is young as experienced pitchers go.

With Neef, however, it is simply a question as to whether or not he has just one more good year left in his system. Neef is the dean of the staff and one of the veterans of McGraw's aggregation.

Bentley and Neef must carry the southpawing load. If one of them falls by the wayside the loss will cripple McGraw's team greatly.

DRIVERS PREPARE FOR NEXT RACES

Sprintfest To Be Presented April 19 At Speedway In Culver City

CULVER CITY, April 1.—Their recess over, the speed merchants are once more tenderly removing the covers from their mounts, gingerly feeling over the vitals of their chariots, and starting preparations for the next item on the speed fans' bill of fare—the sprintfest on the Culver City bowl Sunday, April 19.

The pilots are fully rested from their last efforts. Tommy Milton, Peter DePaola, Phil Shafer, and Wade Morton spent their vacation down on the sands at Palm Beach and took part in the power boat races down there. Ralph De Palma, Eddie Hearn, Earl Cooper, and many of the other stars took part in races around this part of the country, and kept in trim. Much work faces the prospective 1925 champions. In the shorter sprints it is going to be a matter of acceleration and not endurance.

Among those entered are Ralph De Palma, Tommy Milton, Benny Hill and Harry Hartz. Super-chargers, of course, will be the order of the day, and lap records are doomed to bite the dust. One expert yesterday went so far as to predict 135 miles per hour.

NEW YORK, April 1.—Mickey

Walker is wild about California.

He says that as long as he lives he will go to the west coast each winter both to fight and frolic.

The reason he is not going to meet Willie Harmon, the New York welter, in May, is because he does not think enough interest could be steamed up in the bout by that time. Later, after

Willie has knocked a few more boxers, will be time enough to get excited over this bout, says Mickey.

Harmon will no doubt do this very thing and then the public will begin to hear the ballyhoo.

So far as the writer is concerned,

the trouble with this bout will be that Harmon does not like "em

low. His stomach is a tender part of his anatomy and when a body puncher wades into him

he is not at all happy.

While Walker does not say so, it is easy to catch from what he says that Jack Dempsey is not at all interested in fighting these days.

From other sources come whispers that Jack Kearns is more worried about this present attitude of the champion, than any one else. But dapper Jack, who is pretty wise when it comes to human nature, is not pushing his meal-ticket at the present time.

When having a wife about the house has got to be more or less an old story then will be the time when Kearns will dangle

the old lure of the spangles before his fighter's eyes. It will have to be that rather than the money end of the game, for Dempsey is making plenty without all the trouble and strain of training and fighting in the ring.

BEARDLESS YOUTH MADE TAX WIZARD
Secretary Mellon Places Boy As Solicitor Of Internal Revenue

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—This is a tale of the jazz age—a story of the younger generation which cannot possibly come to any good end because of the way it is carrying on.

And yet Andrew W. Mellon, wise in his three score and ten, a conservative of conservatives, has lifted out of the treasury department a beardless youth—a mere boy in appearance—and placed him as solicitor in the division of the internal revenue, placed him where he will be final arbiter in claims amounting into the tens of millions; placed him where among other things he will conduct the government's case against Senator "Jim" Cowdens, of Michigan, and the other minority shareholders of the Ford Motor company, in a cause which already has become famous before the public and in congressional debate.

On Wednesday Alexander White Gregg, a native of Texas, but a product of Washington and the high school cadets, will take the oath as solicitor. A "Texas tax wizard," they call him, and his little more than a quarter century of years, and the strangest thing of all is that this is one treasury official whom they swear by and not at upon Capitol Hill. For young Alexander White Gregg was the helmsman who

LAW IS GIVEN COMMITTEE APPROVAL

School Bill Is Outlined For C. C. Directors; Better Rail Service Asked

Senate bill No. 543, known as the twenty-four-hour school law, and providing for institutions throughout the state for the care of delinquent children not cared for by present state institutions, received the endorsement of the educational committee of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce yesterday when O. E. McDowell, chairman, explained the measure before the board of directors. The directors turned the bill over to the legislative committee, Bert Woodard, chairman, for action.

Director C. W. Ingledue will represent the Chamber of Commerce in further attempts to get better service from Glendale Junction into Los Angeles over the Los Angeles railway, so that transportation over the Glendale-Montrose line will be facilitated.

To Attend Meeting
Director George Lyons issued an invitation to members of the board to attend a meeting at Burbank Friday night, when plans for a big municipal enterprise in the neighboring city are to be announced for the first time.

Percy J. Hayselden was appointed by President D. H. Smith to represent Glendale at a joint meeting of the Santa Monica-Foothill Boulevard and Old Trails Highway associations, scheduled for San Bernardino, when plans for observance of the centennial anniversary of the founding of the Santa Fe trail will be worked out.

PERSHING GIVEN CHILE-PERU ROW

'Black Jack' To Preside At Plebiscite; Considered Ticklish Job

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—General John J. Pershing, who has a veritable penchant for collecting hard jobs from the government—such as looking for Villa and cracking the backbone of Germany's resistance on the western front—has a task cut for him now that the smoothest diplomats in Washington are shaking their heads over.

He is to supervise the plebiscite that is to settle the age-old controversy between Peru and Chile over the ownership of Tacna-Arica, the Alsace-Lorraine of South America. Difficult at best, General Pershing's task has been rendered doubly so in the last 48 hours by the serious charges Peru has lodged against Chile here in Washington and the uncompromising attitude assumed by the Peruvians.

The resentment that Peru feels over the award made by President Coolidge as umpire in the dispute, has manifested itself in a note, which by the most liberal translation from the original Spanish can only be characterized as "sharp."

Chile Accused
The note was presented to Secretary of State Kellogg today for transmission on to President Coolidge. It not only takes violent exception to the president's decision as umpire of the dispute, but it accuses Chile of various and sundry "crimes" in the disputed area, and insists upon American troops being sent to replace the Chileans until the election is held to determine the nationality of the province.

The whole controversy is of greater importance to the American government than appears on the surface. The whole of Latin America is watching the progress of this dispute, and eagerly awaiting its outcome. The prestige of the United States in the entire western hemisphere is more or less involved, for the neighbors of Chile and Peru have taken sides.

JAP CURRENCY

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Depreciation in Japanese currency had a marked effect on trade between Japan and China during 1924, it was revealed by the far eastern division of the Department of Commerce.

AERODROME PLANS

LONDON, April 1.—One million dollars will be spent in improving Croydon aerodrome, from which all the continental air traffic departs, if present plans of the air ministry are approved.

In the airplane used for sky writing the instrument board is cluttered with some fifteen controls and recording devices, and half a dozen dials, levers and indicators controlling smoke gear, all of which the flyer must watch.

steered the 1924 income tax law through the House and the Senate. The elder statesmen on both sides of the capitol respect this young man who likes to dance and golf and take a motor ride now and then, even as do his fellows of the terrible younger generation.

She's Queen of Roost

R. C. WILLIAMS of Barre, Mass., owns what poultry judges say is the most perfectly marked silver Wyandotte chicken in this country, and one of the finest specimens ever raised. Williams, shown with the fowl, has been exhibiting poultry for twenty-six years.

REALTY FIRM IS DISSOLVED TODAY

H. L. Finlay Recuperating From Recent Illness; Preston In Charge

The Glendale Evening News was today requested to publish the following self-explanatory communication from Finlay & Preston, realtors, 131 South Brand boulevard:

"The real estate firm comprised of H. L. Finlay and Harley G. Preston, 131 South Brand boulevard, which has been successfully operated for the past two years, has been dissolved by mutual consent of both partners.

"Mr. Finlay is recuperating from a recent illness and does not wish to confine himself to the strenuous work in which he has been so successful in the past. He will take a much needed rest, after which he will be located temporarily at 205 West Broadway, Glendale, at which time he will be glad to meet his many friends and serve them in any capacity possible.

Preston in Charge
"Mr. Preston will take over the office and business heretofore conducted by the firm of Finlay & Preston, under the new name of 'Harley G. Preston, Realtor.' He will be pleased to continue to work for the best interests of his clients and customers as in the past. Low Prices Set By Fisher's Variety Store Proving Attractive To All

That Glendale people appreciate an unusual buying opportunity and are not slow to take advantage of it was the statement of J. F. Fisher, president of Fisher's Variety Store, Inc., today, when he said that this fact had been proven time and again since the opening of their "Going Out of Business Sale" last Saturday.

"Many Glendalians are not only buying for present needs but for the future as well," he said. "Of course, it would be difficult for any house to stay in business and sell merchandise at our present prices, but with us it is simply a proposition of get out of business as cheaply as possible and turn everything into ready cash, hence it is we quote the prices we do."

According to P. J. Fahey, manager of the Glendale store, there are still large shipments of merchandise en route to the Glendale store which could not be canceled. This merchandise, he said, will immediately be placed on sale at the same low prices now prevailing.

Illinois bankers have opened a gigantic, anti-bank robbery campaign, statewide in its scope, with the definite idea of driving bank robbers out of business by means of armed town guards and laws with teeth in them.

LOSS BY FIRE PAST MONTH IS SMALL

Fifteen Blazes Total Only $21,350, Including Ice Company's Loss

With the exception of the disastrous blaze that partially destroyed the plant of the Crystal Ice Delivery Co., Glendale suffered a loss from fire during March of only $21,350, according to records in the office of Fire Chief A. H. Lankford. There were a total of fifteen fires during the month, with a $20,000 loss recorded at the ice plant blaze, making a total loss for the month $21,350.

The per capita loss for March was 35 1/2 cents, as compared with 45 cents for the year 1924; 26 cents for 1923 and 22 cents for 1922. Despite the fact that during February the per capita loss was only one-half cent, Lankford declared that March average was low in comparison with other cities of similar size.

New Equipment
Probability that with low loss showing during the next few months, coupled with the addition of a new fire station; the remodeling of one of the present stations and the acquiring of three new pieces of modern equipment will result in a reduction of insurance rates was expressed today by city officials.

The new equipment and all construction work will be completed by July 1, it was predicted.

Senator Facing Indictment Is Prey When Department Of Justice Prowls

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—When Gaston B. Means was appearing almost daily at the Wheeler investigation into the conduct of the department of justice, he testified that his chief occupation in life was facing indictments. Senator Wheeler joined in the general laughter. Today this same Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, declared that it looked as if answering indictments would be his avocation if not his life's vocation, for the department of justice is on its prowl and Senator Wheeler is the prey it wants to bag.

Washington is withholding its judgment in the various cases brought against Senator Wheeler for there is atmospheric background of possible presidential prejudice of which his friends have been prompt to seize upon and exploit. It is felt here that trial by jury, first in Montana and later in the District of Columbia, will settle the issue once and for all and place the blame where it belongs. The left-over friends of Harry Daugherty in the capitol, and he still has a few, were jubilant today, declaring that now two succeeding attorney generals of the United States have passed upon the Wheeler case and have permitted indictments to be brought.

Meantime the people of the country are asking what manner of man is Senator Wheeler. For one who has been accused of so many high crimes and misdemeanors, including the informal charge of being a sort of "parlor pink" at heart, he is a very mild sort of person—in manner all of the time, and in speech when not on the stump.

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, April 1.—Increased building activity in Eagle Rock has brought from Building Inspector Phillips an announcement that his office hereafter will be open for business from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m. daily, except Saturday when the office will close at noon.

Burglars entered the home of E. N. Bliss, 2320 Hill drive and escaped with Navajo rugs, lap robes and linen valued at $360. Entrance was gained by cutting the screen on a back window while the family was away from home. A concert will be given by Miss Ruth Thompson, well-known pianist, formerly of Eagle Rock but now residing at Long Beach, at the Women's Twentieth Century clubhouse on April 7.

Organization work for the formation of an Eagle Rock branch of the Knights of Pythias lodge is under way here at the present time under the direction of Louis Herzog, publisher of the California Pythian Star. Charles F. Johnson, deputy grand chancellor of the state, is assisting.

A budget of $4,895 has been approved by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce for the ensuing fiscal year starting today. Last year's budget was $6,000. Various economies effected by officials of the organization permitted the smaller amount for 1925. Of the total $2,400 is for salaries.

LITERARY JOB

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 1.—Famous "Copey," the man who "takes the curse off literature," has been appointed Bolyston professor of Rhetoric at Harvard university, succeeding Dean Le Baron R. Briggs, retired.

Owing to the rapidity with which the animals have been killed off, the supply of chinchilla skins exported from Chile has decreased from 32,000 in 1924 to 150 pelts a year.
